"He mana tō te kupu" "Words have great power"

Our training offers a proven pedagogy that places spoken language as the heart of all learning and teaching. We help teachers to gain the knowledge, confidence and skill to become great storytelling teachers. We help schools to deliver a culturally responsive & creative curriculum that accelerates literacy and learning across science, social-studies/history and beyond. Teaching the storytelling way is 'just what the doctor ordered' for children & their teachers. Within this 'joyful' literacy practice lies a science of learning and proven mechanisms to enhance; visual & auditory memory, lexical diversity & fluency, agility with sound, and the ability to think and inter-think. Quite simply storytelling ways are good for the brain and good for the heart.
